Dear Fellow Attorneys:

Re: DotCO Law Marketing

It is impossible for me to understand how to effectively market on the internet and run my family law practice. However, not effectively being on the internet was, and is, not an option for me.

My firm had only one site and that never has worked well for me. Also, legal advertising on the internet is becoming much more competitive even in my small city of Pearland, Texas. One site just is not enough.

DotCO provided me a chance to specifically target Pearland, Texas limited to Family & Divorce Law with <http://www.PearlandDivorceLawyer.co>. Also, because I took the entire site, I met the guidelines of Google Places, BING & YAHOO Local.

Simply put, I could not get this type of coverage without DotCO and the price definitely is lower than anything remotely close offered by other legal marketing companies. This particular site is informative to the end user; effective in the search results for keywords related to my practice; and, I believe it is extremely professional in appearance, design and content.

The custom campaign they put together for our law firm has, and will continue to, drive qualified prospective clients to us either by getting them to our website or by contacting us directly from our listing on the DotCO site.

I recommend DotCO Law Marketing without reservation and you may freely contact me if you have any questions.

Sincerely,

Dora Bonner
